The city court judge, addressing the club on the possibilities of a new theory of criminology recently advanced here by him, said the chain gang school is being conducted by hardened criminals who have had years of experience as yeggs and in other major crimes.

Judge Hall's new idea centers around probation. He has announced his intention never to send a young man between 16 and 21 years to the chain gang, and says that "95 per cent of the first offenders who come into my court should be paroled."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(UP) A determination, strengthened by recent events, to abandon the thankless role of financial angel for the democratic party has caused National Chairman John J. Raskob to search for a new way of financing the political cause into which he has poured thousands of dollars.

A preliminary survey is being made with a view to the possibility of discarding traditional political methods and engaging the services of a group of specialists in money-raising to undertake the task on a business basis.

WHAT should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the pre-scription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients. It doesn't sicken or weaken you. But its action is thorough. It carries off the sour bile and poisonous waste. It does everything you want it to do. It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their

In the afternoon I visited the chamber of deputies in company with our ambassador and heard a speech by M. Viviani in which he referred with much feeling to his reception in the United States, and mentioned his having been privileged to deliver an address before congress. His cloquence over America's entrance into the war and what it meant to France caused prolonged cheering and an enthusiastic recognition of our presence by the deputies.

Later on several of us went to the aviation field at Le Bourget, where we saw numbers of airphanes always held in readiness to take the air against raids by enemy planes and Zeppelins. POST IN PANAMA

War department orders transferring Brigadier General Harold B. Fiske, for more than two years commander of the fourth coast artillery district at Fort McPherson, to the Canal Zone, Panama, as commandant of the troops division there, were received in Atlanta Thursday.

One of the most outstanding tacticians of the army, as well as a disciplinarian of wide repute, General Fiske for the last two years has had direct supervision of all coast defense activities of the fourth corps area, which embraces all the southeastern states. He likewise has taken an active part in the development of the officers' reserve corps in this section, and is one of the most popular line officers in the service.

During the World War General Fiske was attached to the headquarters of the American expeditionary forces in France, being closely associated with General John J. Pershing in activities of the directing staff of the American armies. He was in complete charge of combat training of the first American units to go into action overseas and has been cited for his activities while serving in that capacity.

The department orders contained announcement of the succession of Brigadier General William S. McNair, of Tecumseh, Mich., to the post made vacant here by the transfer of General Fiske. General McNair also is a veteran line officer, and has been relieved of his duties as commander of the sixth field artillery at Fort Hoyle, Md., to enable him to assume command of the corps coast artillery activities here.

NEIGHBOR SAVES

Promptness of a neighbor in responding to her cries for help probably saved the life of Mrs. M. V. Crowe, 32. of 1256 Grant street, S. E., early Thursday morning, when her nightgown caught fire as she was preparing breakfast for her three children. At Grady hospital Thursday night it was said that Mrs. Crowe's condition was not critical, although she received severe burns about her body.

Mrs. Jeff Hicks, who lives at the same address, heard the cries of the woman and rushed into the kitchen to find her neighbor enveloped in flames. With a bathrobe she smothered the burning garment and Mrs. Hicks and her husband summoned an ambulance Mrs. Hicks received minor about the hands and arms.

PATRICIDE SENTENCE UPHELD ON APPEAL

The 10 to 20-year sentence imposed on Maurice Rooks for voluntary mansiaughter was upbeld Thursday by the state court of appeals. Rooks was tried in Colquitt county for the slaying of his father, J. A. Rooks.

The court of appeals handed down decisions in favor of the plaintiffs in two civil suits involving personal injuries. Alice Bell, of Augusta, was awarded a judgment of $150 and costsagainst the National Market Company for injuries received when struck by

A WISE INNOVATION.

The action of Chairman Murphey and his colleagues of the finance committee to admit press reporters to their sessions is wise and commendable.

Batty Lingo.

The habitual offender of London may never "take a powder" or "go on the lam," he never fears a "squealer" and a "stool" means nothing but a place to sit, but the trade jargon of the city's lawbreakers loses nothing in vigor for the lack of American slang. "Pinched by a harness bull" would mean nothing in London, but hen one culprit admits to another that he was "pulled by a split" it means the old story that a policeman in uniform could move his dogs fast enough to overtake the suspect in flight. The aristocracy of London's criminals allow no slurs on their mendable.

Mayor Key has said that as long as he is connected with the borough government the people shall know lar prison is referred to as "The Ritz" what is going on in the conduct of their normally public business. He is emphatically in tune with popular sentiment in so saying and the people have the right to know the public handling of their rights and property.

Are prison is referred to as "The Ritz" and may someone help the neophyte who is so crass as to admit to anyone that he has been to "prison."

Among the criminals, one simply never goes to jail. It's a faux pas to use even such terms as "jug, quod, clink or chokey," names once in good form. "Have you ever been to college?" is the polished means of police inquiry now. The prisons for the hardened repeaters are called "the property.

Of what use is their right of petition or of protest if a wrong thing is secretly put over on them irrevocably before they can take alarm or resist. Public agents are always "the beak. Both "lags" and "slops'

It is a notorious fact that for fifty years the democrats have usually fought their campaigns on shoe-strings, while the republicans had the whole tannery at command.

When National Committee Began. Prior to 1848 presidential and con ressional campaigns were conducte gressional campaigns were conducted by party committees in the several states. The Democrats Then Caught On. In the next campaign, that of 1860, the firmament fell upon the democrats. They split in the famous Charleston convention, the wings subsequently nominating Douglas for one faction and Breckenridge for the other.

Meantime the republicans had nomielmont, then one of the foremost nankers as chairman of their national keep him.

The Man Who Controls the Power House Can Decide How To Use the Power

-By Robert Quillen -When a man of ordinary intelligence says that the normal individual has complete control of his life, so that he can be happy or unhappy, whipped or unwhipped, enslaved by evil habits or free of them, sourced by malice or happily rid of unpleasant memories, there will be many to question both his judgment and his sanity.

The cynical and the shallow will say: "That is Pollyanna stuff dened to fool simpletons."
Yet it is literally and exactly true. It is a scientific truth as easily demonstrable as the fact that water runs down hill.

Almost 2,000 years ago the greatest of teachers said: "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

For 19 centuries the world saw in that statement nothing more than reference to the obvious fact that a man's character is made and measured by his secret thoughts and not by his words or his outward ap-

Then men began to develop a new science—the study of their own minds—and at once the ancient truth appeared as the most significant fact in human experience.

And a man can think what he will.

There is the whole truth in two sentences.

Make no mistake about it. Man's ability to control his thoughts is easily demonstrable that a child can prove it. And just as easily demonstrated is the truth that a man is what his thoughts make him. Force yourself to think of good things to eat and soon you will hun ger for them. Force yourself to think of a man who once wronged you and soon your countenance will harden with hate. Keep your thoughts on the blind and crippled and destitute and you are filled with pity keep your thoughts on your own misfortunes and you are filled with who is trying to quit smoking has little chance of success while his thoughts are fixed on the pleasure a smoke would afford; but let him understand that he is facing death and he will think so constantly of health and the joy of living that tobacco no longer will interest him. If your thoughts fix themselves on revenge, you are a potential murderer; if then by an effort of will you fix your thoughts on some fine dventure, the new interest makes you decent again.

When men's minds went west, the ox teams soon followed.

require motor carriers to locate and erect, use or lease depots or stations meets with the approval of the motor bus people, E. Smythe Gambrell, attorney for the Georgia Motor Carriers' Association, Thursday afternoon told the senate highways committee.

After hearing from Chairman James A. Perry, of the public service commission, Judge Arthur Powell, who drew the two senate motor transportation bills, and Mr. Gambrell, the highways committee adjourned until the speed limit, he said.

A proposed limitation of gas tanks on busses to 25-gallon capacity means that busses will not be able to load up on gas outside of Georgia and avoid payment of the gasoline tax, Judge Powell said. In addition, he pointed ut, this provision would avoid the extra explosive risk of the large tanks now used.

Mr. Perry proposed a number of minor changes in the "Motor Carrier Act of 1931" bill, including the suggestion that no limit be set on liability insurance to be carried, but that this be left in the discretion of the commission. While he believes it best for all bus operators to start over with new certificates under the proposed new act, the bill seems to be working new act, the bill seems to be working itself out, and in another year or so there will be a proper adjustment, he said. The majority of his time was taken up with an explanation of the bill with suggested changes.

Likes Present Law. Mr. Gambrell argued that there is to need of adopting a new act, but that the legislature should incorporate its proposed changes in the law by amending the present act. The present act is good, although "it is a stiff one," Mr. Gambrell said. He contended that a number of bus companies aid enforcement of the law by having a bonus system for employes, with forfeits for wrecks. His principal objection was to the bill setting out administrative details which he declared should be left in the discretion is seen with Dr. David Jacobs in the prescription department of Jacobs drug store at Broad and Alabama streets, where he is employed as a pharmacist.

Editor's note: George Jolson, brother of Al. of "Mammy Song" fame, is now a resident of Atlanta. Thursday night he consented to criticize "Big Boy," his brother's latest starring picture, which opened its local engagement at the Paramount theater. George, before writing his opinions about Brother Al. remarked that he was a newcomer to Atlanta and would be "tickled pink" if a few good Atlantans would drop into his place of work and say "helle."

When you know somebody as well as you know a brother—that is when brothers are as close pals as Al and I—it is frightfully exciting to see them as players. I always feel that it is the real Al on the screen in front of me, as though I could just reach out my hand and touch him. I guess that's the brotherly feeling.

In "Big Boy," which I saw at the Paramount theater Thursday night, I think I like the place where he sings those negro spirituals best of all. That is a great setting, the old Kentucky mansion with all the darkies sprawled around the lawn while Al sings, "Shout All Over God's Heaven" and the others intone the refrain.

Hawas nave lightims when were at home in Washington. Next time I see him I'm going to tell him about trying to write this criticism of his picture.

I'll confess, too, that even if I didn't think the picture was great, I wouldn't dare say otherwise. Because you see he's my big brother and I'm going to see him again in the not distant future and I want to stay friends.

I'd better.

But, honestly, the picture is splendid entertainment and if you don't the brother and I'm be with the picture was great, I wouldn't dare say otherwise. Because you see he's my big brother and I'm don't think the picture was great, I wouldn't dare say otherwise. But, honestly, the picture was great, I didn't think the picture.

But home in Washington. Next time I see him I'm going to see hi

All four of the new songs that Al sings in this picture are good, but I think perhaps the last one, "Hooray for Baby and Me," is the best. That one about "Little Sunshine" is pretty, but it's the first time I ever saw Al sing to a horse. Believe me he finds something better than a horse's neck to put his arm around in private life.

Atlanta and would be "tickled plak" if a few good Atlantans would drop late his place of work and say "hello."

BY GEORGE JOLSON.

Personally I think Al's new picture. "Big Boy," is simply great. I wouldn't say it was the best thing he's done, because I always think each new production of his, on stage or screen, is the best. You see I'm quite proud of this older brother of mine, and it gives me a tremendous kick to see him work.

When you know somebody as well as you know a brother—that is when brothers are as close pals as Al and I—it is frightfully exciting to see them a valveyer. I shryays feel them.

L. L. Wilson, president; T. A. Latic Matter and the drain of the stockholders of the contributing $10,000 toward this particular work.

Fundamental Strates engineer office estimate, $46,503.20.

There is probability that the work in Savannah harbor will be done by the United States engineers' equipment.

The Brunswick projects, two in number, call for deepening of the last year, which has been repaid, would be made available to them again for the crop of 1931.

Farmers of the four states were destinated by the channel as width of 180 feet and a depth of 21 to above the plant of the Gibson, the following officers were elected:

Most of the appropriation of $900.-000 approximately for the Savannah district will go toward the work at Brunswick. The Savannah project consists of widening the channel up-stream to 300 feet as far as the Panstream to 300 feet as far as the Pan-American Company's new plant. This channel was recently dug to 26 feet by the city, the federal government authorizing reimbursement of the amount expended, about $85,000 under the regular river and harbors bill.

Both of these present projects are included in the government's emergency program of $116,000,000, signed by President Hoover on December 20, 1930.

The engineer's office said that it hoped to start work on all projects about the middle of February. Once the work begins it will be handled as expeditiously as possible.

Late Thursday as expeditiously as possible.

Late Thursday afternoon the award for the Brunswick main contract was given to the Atlantic, Gulf & Pacific Company, New York city, on its bid of $471,935, and the Back river contract at Brunswick went to the Globe Dredging Company of Sayannah for the Grounders. Arrangements will be made for Dodd to complete certain school work at Tech leading to his degree at Tennessee. This will enable him to report to Coach Alexander the latter part of March after basketball is Dodd will be given a group of backfield candidates for six weeks' coaching in punting and passing and in the fundamentals of ball carrying. Coach Dodd will have a section of Rose Bowl field turned over for his exclusive use and will have free rein in teaching his tricks to the prospective Yellow Jackets.

Spring training for the major portion of Tech's football candidates starts the first week in February and will be completed before Dodd can come down to take charge of his section of the squad. However, the plan for the special class in backfield mechanics fits in well with conditions at Tech for a number of potential ball carriers will be engaged well into March playing basketball.

This double-barreled spring training will give the young Jackets advantage of both new assistant coaches' teaching. Jack Cannon already entered in pre-medical course at Emory will be here for the regular training period and Dodd will come in for the second session.

Georgia Lady Tells How She Got Well and Strong After Taking Cardui.

Augusta. Ga .- Mrs. Lizzie Newsome. 1830 Greene Street, this city, says she is "delighted" to tell about her use of Cardui because she believes it nelped her so much.

"Six years ago, my mother gave me Cardui because my health was poor," writes Mrs. Newsome. "I was a pale and sickly girl, suffering constantly with backache. My strength eemed to give out.

"Mother had taken Cardui herself and had been so greatly benefited by it that she thought of it as the very medicine for me. It brought me right out, and after I had taken it awhile,

"After I was married, I was run-down and needed something to build me up. I was weak and had to drag myself to my work. I suffered from shortness of breath and backache.
"I remembered how much good before, and started taking it again. I took eleven bottles of Cardui. I got well and strong again, and ceased having any ache or pains."

"I though that fish couldn't have flopped back into that hole in the ice," said Farmer Brown's Boy. He was talking to himself, for there was no one else to talk to. "Now I know he didn't. Whitey saw him flopping about, and while I was pulling that second fish out he came on those noiseless wings of his and picked up that first one. Of course, he must have taken that fine big pickerel I laid over on the bank."

He looked over to where Whitey was sitting in a tree some distance away. He had been sitting there eversince he had flown from the place where he had been found by Farmer Brown's Boy. The latter had brought along a minnow wherewith to bait the hook from which he had-taken the last fish. He had left the pail in which he kept his minnows over near the fire he had built on the bank of the Big River. Having once more set the tip-up, he went whistling back for the fire. He had lost two fish, but he had two, and so he felt very good about the matter.

"Probably Whitey needed those fish a great deal more than I did," thought he. "I wouldn't be surprised if they were the first food he has had for two or three days, so he is welcome to them. Two of them ought to last him a while. He certainly had me fooled for some time. Of course, if I had knovn that he was down here from the Far North I would have suspected him. Now that I do know, I can't be fooled again."

He reached the bank where his fire was burning. A short distance from it he broke the snow crust and, scooping out a place in the snow, put his two pickerel in the hollow, then covered them with snow. He looked over toward Whitey. "I don't think you'll find those, Mr. Owl," said he.

He went to the fire and warmed his hands. Then he looked in the minnow pail, to see how many he had left. You should have seen the face of Farmer Brown's Boy when he looked in that pail. His jaw dropped so that his mouth was open in the most foolish way. He blinked several times. That

They couldn't have jumped out of the pail. No, sir, they couldn't have done that. If they had, they would have been lying about on the snow. But they couldn't have done it, anyway.

Farmer Brown's Boy had a queer feeling. There was something peculiar going on here. He looked once more at the distant Whitey. "It wasn't you this time," said he. "No, sir, it wasn't you. You have been sitting in that tree ever since I started you from the ice on the river. Those minnows disappeared while I was over there. Now, where did they go, and how did they go? I wonder if you have a mate around here. That must be it. Yes, sir, that must be the answer; there must be another Snowy Owl somewhere about."

way to San Quentin, the ring in his pocket and the still damp photographic prints carefully wrapped in paper on the seat beside him. Not even the prison gardens, with their glaring incongruous beauty, succeeded in depressing his spirits. Callahan was already in for a long term, and he would have no reason for refusing to talk, especially since Peter came from Fitzgerald.

Despite Fitzgerald's description Peter was unprepared for the stunted, narrow-chested figure in a prison uniform several sizes too large for him, who came forward to a seat on the prisoner's side of the barrier. Callahan's coloring was of the dusty blonde type whose skin always looks faintly grimy. The short prison haircut made his features even more wizened than nature, augmented by continuous undernouishment in childhood, had created them. Even an eye less experienced than Peter's would have placed Callahan as one of society's congenial misfits.

"Well, I'll tell you what I wish you'd do. Give me the ticket and let me get it out of hock, and take the ring. It's worth at lot more than $10, but on the other hand it's stolen property and when this thing hreaks you won't be allowed to keep it anyway."

Lammie squinted across the room at Jimmy, and with a single swinging curved line added an exaggeratedly tilted eyeshade to the drawing before him.

"I never want to see the damn thing again," he said without looking up.

"I'm sorry you got dragged into," "The sorry you got dragged into," "Peter apologized with awkward sympathy.

"Oh, I'm not sore at you," Lammie's head was bent low as he opened the drawer of his desk and fished out the pawn ticket from among its miscellaneous contents. "In a way, I'm grateful. I'm on the wagon, Peterfor keeps," he added gruffly. The pawn ticket from among its miscellaneous contents. "In a way, I'm grateful. I'm on the wagon, Peterfor keeps," he added gruffly. The paynt ticket was in his hand, but he still pretended to fumble among the papers in the drawer. "Jimmy's too damn decent. You gave me the scare of my life, and I guess it knocked some sense into me. I'd give you the ring for nothing, if I had the money to get it out of bock."

"That's all right—it isn't my own money," Peter assured him blithely. "I'm just lucky that Izay didn't put you wise to the fact that those emeralds are real and give you more for it."

A half-hour later Peter was on his way to San Quentin, the ring in his morboidered statement.

dernouishment in childhood, had created them. Even an eye less experienced than Peter's would have placed Callahan as one of society's congenial misfits.

"Sunk before he started," Peter inwardly commented.

Neither viciousness nor adventure, ambition nor despair has made Callahan an outlaw. He was a criminal because it had never occurred to him to be anything else. He scraped a precarious and dangerous living, punctuated by periods in prison only a degree more dismal than, the periods outside it, because he knew of nothing else to do.

"Mr. Fitzgerald wants as I should help you. I don't know how I can help anybody, but Mr. Fitzgerald was good to my missus, and what he says goes." Callahan said as he dropped into his seat.

"If you'll come clean on what I asky you, neither Mr. Fitzgerald nor I will forget it, when you come up before the prison board."

"I ain't strikin' no bargain with you." The man's voice, thin and reedy, had yet a curious, hopeless dignity." The prison board will give me the book, and I know it. But I owe Mr. Fitzgerald suthin', an' if you're a friend o' his, that's enough. Split it."

Teter drew the ring from his pocket and held it up where Callahan could see it, cupped in his hand.

"I only want to know where you got this," he said.

"You wouldn't believe it if I told you." Calahan's voice had the dull certitude of one to whom the accusation of lying had long ceased to be an insult. What's more, I never told a soul. I was scared to turn it over to a fence when it happened, and when I

An Advance that Has Not Halted

OMPARED to 287 industrials which showed during the first Unine months of 1930 a decrease of 37% in gross earnings from 1929, and 35 railroads which fell off 39%, a gain of 4.4% was made by the electric light and power, and about 1% by the manufactured gas, industry.

Among the factors that help to assure the utilities of stable income are the necessary nature of the services, absence of any problem of overproduction and the momentum of growing demands in a naturally expanding industry. With this stability in poor times, however, goes the fact that in times of prosperity the utilities do not and cannot be expected to show the spectacular gains made by other industries.

BOND MARKET TURNS UPWARD

Daily Bond Averages.

BY DONALD C. BOLLES.

BY DONALD C. BOLLES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—(P)—The bond market had a respite today from the competition of new financing and resumed its advance. United States governments pointed towards new high levels and domestic corporate obligations in the investment class tended higher under the leadership of high grade carrier liens.

The lull in capital emissions was considered a good thing as there was some doubt as to whether the listed market could stand the strain. With no further offerings today to swell the three-day total of $230,000,000 bidding for investment issues improved and the market's general tone was much steadier.

Indications that the improved sentiment towards the bond market has extended to municipal issues were given in the announcement that a syndicate had disposed of the last of the $50.000,000 New York city 4s offered last October. The state of Arkansas has sold $15,000,000 4 34 per cent notes due July 15, 1931, which will be offered tomorrow by a syndicate headed by Halsey Stuart & Co.

The accumulation of high grade investment issues was at a good pace today, and the turnover expanded to around the recent normal.

Some of the utilities moved upward sharply. But the group was irregular. Treasury 3 3-8s of 1940-43 touched new high for the post two years to-ay and others are selling close to the 10 Am Inv War BY CLAUDE & JAGGER. NEW YORK, Jan. 15 .- (A)-Curb shares were depressed by active selling of the utilities today. Trading quickened somewhat, day's transfers totaling 349,400 shares, a gain of 86,800 over yesterday's extremely low turnover. Electric Bond and Share provided much of the day's business, accounting for nearly 20 per cent of the trading. The issue dropped 2 1-2 points to 40, and closed only a fraction Oils eased, but in the main were not notably active.

'Ah, that we do not know," lamented Usula. "Ah, that we do not know," lamented Usuia. "But I shall know!" said Tarzan. "Return home to your wives and children. You are needed among the herds and in the fields. And when next you see me, you will know Luvini is dead." Bidding them good-bye he turned about in search of Luvini—and revenge. He whistled once, a single, low, long-drawn note and a moment later, Jad-bal-ja, the golden lion, bounded into view along the jungle trail.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

We failed in our duty to protect her." Tarzan could not believe his ears. He made Usula tell each detail of the events leading up to her death. When this was done, Tarzan of the Apes spoke but three words: "WHERE is Luvini?" ROOMS AND BOARD

HIGHLIGHTS OF WALL STREET

By CHARLES W. STORM. Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15,—(NANA)
Wall Street has again become "bear minded" and for that reason the professional bears are again having matters pretty much their own way. Because of the apprehensiveness again existing the professional bears are meeting little resistance in their offorts to depress prices. Their success has also caused a renewal of the decline in the general stock market. Dealers in bank stocks, timid liquidation.

Today's decline was the most severe witnessed in weeks as indicated by the sharp breaks which occurred in J. I. Case, American Can, Worthington Pump, Eastman Kodak and Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing.

Much of the selling in Case, Westinghouse and Eastman Kodak was due to bear pressure. Some liquidation of the selling in Case, Westinghouse and Eastman Kodak was due to bear pressure. Some liquidation ership of the securities of some big J. I. Case, American Can, Worthing ton Pump, Eastman Kodak and Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing. Much of the selling in Case, Westinghouse and Eastman Kodak was due to bear pressure. Some liquidation is reported of a necessitous character corporations and there are many corporations and the corporations and the corporations are the feet leveling to report a feet leveling to re to be appearing in American Can. The Street has again become so ap prehensive that no attention was paid to announcement that there has been a slight increase in the prices of eight Last Chance to Buy.

Opinion in high banking places is that the present break will furnish the last big opportunity to make purchases of good seasoned stocks and for that reason a further decline in the market is expected to induce investment buying on a substantial scale just as occurred when stocks.

In the capital half a dozen persons were hurt, and one child died of injuries suffered during the quake which spread terror throughout the stock market skies clarify. Various groups are also taking advantage of the downward movement to accumulate stocks which are considered attractive. the market is expected to induce investment buying on a substantial scale just as occurred when stocks broke to new low levels on December 16, last. It is also believed that the general stock market is heavily over-

MEXICAN 'QUAKE TOLL | TIRE INDUSTRY BOOM FOUND TO BE HEAVY

Ten Known Dead, Many Injured in 200-Mile Area of Disturbance.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 15.—(UP)— Deaths and property damage proved more extensive today than had been indicated in early reports of the strong earthquake which shook Mexico City last evening and rocked a large section of the country over an area more than 200 miles in extent. The death total reached 10 to-night, with the death of Moises Paniagua, a Spanish chemist, who suc-cumbed at Jaurez hospital as a result

The steady decline which has occurred in stocks the last year has result curred in stocks the last year has resulted in a marked changing of ownership of the securities of some big corporations and there are many movements afoot looking to representation of the new stockholders in a number of companies. This is particularly true of Kelly-Springfield tire. New directors are expected to appear on the directorate of this company in the near future.

Busy days ahead for the tire industry with millions of motorists running their automobiles on casings worn to the cord were predicted today by the Union Trust Company, of Cleveland. In a survey the company has just completed, it found that motorists will probably be in the market in 1931 for 61,000.000 casings, or 14 per cent more than they bought last year. This will be 9,000,000 below the 1929 producion, which was 16,500,000 above the Notwithstanding the recent price reductions, the rubber manufacturers are due to earn more, because inventory losses have been written off and operating efficiency is greater, The bank stated.

DROUTH LOAN BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(P)— President Hoover late today signed the much-disputed drouth loan ap-propriation.

the much-disputed drouth loan appropriation.

The $45,000,000 becomes immediately available and the machinery already has been set up for loaning it to farmers for buying feed, seed, fertilizer and farm machinery fuel for putting in this year's crop.

Even as the president put the formal finish to the controversy over the measure, lines were stiffening in the senate for another battle over providing money for food.

Senate leaders opened the way for an immediate decision in their branch upon the democratic proposal for a $25,000,000 appropriation to the Red Cross for relief work.

In working out an agreement to vote on the amendment of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, during consideration of the interior appropriation bill, the bars were opened for consideration of the supply measures which must be cleared away before March 4 if an extra session is to be avoided.

Almost all the former employes of the tery. power commission were put back to work today but prominently absent on the list were William V. King, chief accountant, and Charles A. Russell, Mrs. Elbert Phelps, at 623 Parkway drive, solicitor.

Their dismissal by Chairman Smith | Company to Columbia, S. C., for funeral and Commissioners Draper and Gar- services and interment. saud, of the new commission, led to the most outstanding difference of opinion between the senate and Presi- | b dent Hoover since the latter took of noon in the chapel of Barclay & Brando

The senate, after days of debate, during which it was charged Russell and King were fired because they opposed the power interests, asked the president to send their names back for reconsideration. Mr. Hoover flature and the second their names back for reconsideration.

From the attitude of commission members the prospects that Russell and King will get their jobs back is none too good. Members said action within a month was likely toward naming an accountant and solicitor to take their places. All but two of the employes under civil service were re-employed on a permanent basis but none of the five executive heads of the commission emetery. were chosen.
